

EVOO Education at the Royal Adelaide Show 2013

Starting on Friday the 6th September, Olives South Australia is again involved in the 2013 Royal Adelaide Show.

There will be a designated Olives SA stall in the Taste SA Pavilion that will highlight local South Australian olive producers and their products. Oils will be available for tasting and customers are encouraged to learn about Australian extra virgin olive oil, the Australian Code of practice and local South Australian specialties.

EVOO tastings and education seminars will be conducted by Kent Hallett each day throughout the show. Various foods will be prepared by Rosa Mato, using olive oil, which the public at the tastings will be able to sample. This event is held each morning of the show until midday with 3-4 tastings in that time period.
